Sora Recommendations

All books shown are available on Sora.

Little Women by Louisa May Alcott is a classic literature book. There is also a movie following the book which is available on Netflix, however may not be exactly accurate to the book.

This is where it ends by Marieke Nijkamp is a Fiction book about a school shooting, where the character face their biggest fears in hopes of surviving.

The Murder Game by Carrie Doyle is a book of the murder mystery genre.

Rhiannon's recommendation

Not available on Sora. I am currently reading Knife by Jo Nesbo.

I am enjoying the book so far, and cannot wait to read many more of Jo's books. I would recommend to anyone who likes a good murder mystery book.

- To improve their life for the next year
- Looking back on the past
- Fresh start - New Year, New 'Me'
- Make new plans

New Start

Mrs Rutter - 2020

1. Eat more fruit - not really, I'm carrying this one over into 2021.
2. Use the slow cooker more - yes! I have done loads of slow cooker recipes, the best one being an amazing recipe for glazed ham. I love using it now, and will keep this up next year too.

3. Read my periodic table book - I really tried, but it is way more in-depth about particle physics than I was expecting. I've read the first 10 pages about 20 times. I think I need to retire before I crack this one... Or at least wait for the girls to leave home.

4. Dance class - sort of, yes. I tried to join a bellydancing class, but it got cancelled due to Covid. However, I have been going to Clubbercise, which is a cardio workout to club tunes, using glow sticks. So I have got fitter, met new people and found new music I like, so it's achieved the same thing.

5. Christmas cards - not before the end of term, but I did write (and post) them this year, which is progress. I think they mostly arrived before Christmas, so I'm taking that as a win.

Mrs Baldry - 2021

1. Get married. ✓ After postponing our original date because of covid we finally got married on 8th August with all of our friends and family. We had the best day ever! (photo attached)
2. Drink more water - ✓ I have got much better at drinking more water! I used to be terrible and sometimes go all day without having a drink or only having tea/coffee. But now I drink at least 2 full bottles of water a day as well as a cup of tea in the morning!
3. Run 10km - I didn't get to 10k unfortunately however I did keep the running up after lockdown and my furthest run is 7.65km which is a massive achievement for me considering I really don't like running at all!
4. Read 5 books (any suggestions will be greatly appreciated) - I just didn't do it. I have no excuses I was rubbish so to read more will be on my list for 2022!
5. Less screen time (way too much time on phone, watching tv, laptop because of covid) ✓ With the restrictions lifted and returning to school as normal my screen time dropped considerably

Can you read? Do you read?

The importance of learning is that it helps the individual to acquire the necessary skills through learning and knowledge so that they can achieve their set goals. Obtaining an acceptable level of literacy and numeracy is essential to access the broader curriculum at school which then as a whole, can greatly improve many factors in your life, including your social life, education and career prospects.

Is the internet helping more people read? Some say the web could be the key to finally banishing illiteracy forever.

Kelbesa Negusse is the smartest child in the village. Poverty is rife in Wenchi, Ethiopia. But even though he does not go to school, eight-year-old Kelbesa can already speak and write in English. For the adults around him, none of whom can read, Kielbasa's progress is nothing short of a miracle.

Over the past two centuries, the world has made stunning progress on reading and writing. In 1820, only 12% of people worldwide were literate. Today, that figure stands at 86%.

But that last 14% – roughly 773 million people – is proving hard to reach. Many live in poor countries, without access to education.

Don't forget to check you emails and Teams daily to complete your homework quizzes!
